ARTICLES
SHIN Kunio, The Politics of Antimodernism: Realism, Modernism, and the Problem of the Welfare State in Kingsley Amis’s Lucky Jim [Paper of the Year Award] ................................................................. 1
IWATA Miki, “Let us see what our painters have done for us”: Garrick and Sheridan on the Spectacularization of Drury Lane ................................................................. 19
IKOMA Kumi, “Real Sentiment is a Very Rare & Godlike Thing”: Sentimentality and the Questions of Gender and Race in The Adventures of Tom Sawyer ................................................................. 39
MARUTANI Atsushi, The Clan of Orphans: Recognition of Contingency and the Destination of “Truth” in Go Down, Moses ................................................................. 59
KONOKI Takaomi, Conversion as “a human constant” in Robert Penn Warren’s Brother to Dragons ................................................................. 75
NAKAYAMA Masami, The Complex Behavior of the Second Person Pronoun Ye in 19th-Century English Novels ................................................................. 95

REVIEWS
Igor Djordjevic, Holinshed’s Nation: Ideals, Memory, and Practical Policy in the Chronicles (HARIKAЕ Ryoko) ................................................................. 117
Jane Moore (ed.), Mary Wollstonecraft (KAWATSU Masae) ................................................................. 123
Andrew Rudd, Sympathy and India in British Literature, 1770–1830 (MATSUI Yuko) ................................................................. 131
Daniel Grausam, On Endings: American Postmodern Fiction and the Cold War (MIURA Reiichi) ................................................................. 139
Paul Giles, The Global Remapping of American Literature (NAGASAWA Tadashi) ................................................................. 145
Richard Gray, After the Fall: American Literature Since 9/11 (OKAMOTO Tasuke) ................................................................. 153